

*Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.*

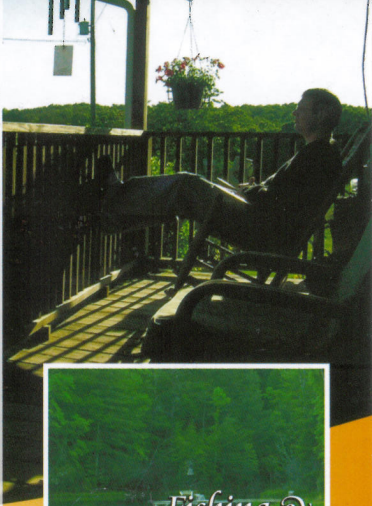

From "The Road Not Taken" by Robert Frost (1874–1963)

It started like a dream, from the second we turned onto the private drive. At the end of the road, the farm opened up like a Grandmother, hugging me in her warmth and intimate welcome. We swam in the crystal blue pool overlooking mountains and rolling hills. We played on the water in the lake after a hike through the lovely woods. That night we slumbered in peaceful tranquility, waking to a country breakfast that filled our souls. We were saddened when we had to go and vowed always to come back...
